Remembering Connie Myren

Past Omicron State President (1991-93) Constance Myren passed away on December 23, 2015. A member of Lambda Chapter, she was best known for her humor, musical talents and vibrant personality. Connie received Omicron State's Achievement Award in 1986. She served the Society at all levels, attended International and Regional events and had a wide range of friends from all over the world. In 2012, when Japan became a part of DKG, Connie attended the installation of officers and initiation of members and played the piano for the ceremonies. She was always an active participant and presenter at Omicron State's Creative Arts Retreats, Life Experience activities, Leadership Days and state and chapter programs and events. She was also passionate about her membership and participation in the Arizona Retired Teachers Association.

KEY THOUGHTS FROM Joye

Keys for Success, our theme for this biennium, contains three goals: membership, programs and leadership. Membership, both recruiting and keeping members, continues to be one of our goals and one filled with challenges. Especially of concern is keeping new members we worked so hard to recruit and then have them drop their membership explaining they are too busy with travel (if recently retired) or too busy with family and jobs (if younger members). Our mission statement The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International promotes professional and personal growth of women educators and excellence in education is designed to help recruit and keep members. We do a good job of promoting professional and personal growth with our fall and spring workshops and with our opportunities for scholarships and awards. We can publicize what we are contributing to excellence in education to help us to attract and keep members.

By now you are somewhat familiar with the membership recruitment plan introduced by Dr. Lyn Schmid, International Delta Kappa Gamma President. It involves several steps your chapter can use or adapt for use. This approach is one that many Arizona chapters have used and includes inviting prospective members to a lunch or brunch. This would be the first step.

Also, we need to pay attention to ways to retain members. The International Membership Committee recommends giving each new member a small or large job to build a feeling of belonging. Acting as a hostess at a chapter meeting, being on a committee at a state or chapter level, attending state and international events or being on the program at the chapter or state level will help new members feel they are contributing to DKG.

Membership challenges are related to changes in the world of work, especially education, and the demands on women balancing work and family responsibilities. The perspectives toward work and organizations from younger generations is different as well. These changes are also influencing changes in Delta Kappa Gamma as we try to meet the needs of women educators. Dr. Beverly Helms, Immediate Past President, our Society Representative, will speak on working with change at the Rose Banquet at the Spring Convention April 15, 16, and 17. Plan to attend and find answers that will influence you and your chapter in the future.

Farewell Dr. Barbara Baker

Dr. Barbara Baker, International President 1986-1988, died in Phoenix on January 30, 2016. Dr. Baker was a member of Alpha Delta and a recipient of both the Omicron State Achievement Award and the International Achievement Award. A child of a military family, she attended public schools in five states. She was a graduate of the University of Texas in Austin and received her M.A. Degree in education from The American University in Washington D.C. Her Ed.D was from Peabody College at Vanderbilt, Nashville, Tennessee. She was a physical education and health education instructor/specialist and was published several times in various physical education journals, as well as the Spring, 1989 DKG Bulletin.

Dr. Baker was initiated into Upsilon Chapter of Iota State, in 1958 and was state president in Virginia from 1975-1977. At the international level, she served on several committees, was a member of The Educational Foundation Board of Trustees and served as Member at Large. The Society Mission Statement was formulated during Dr. Baker's biennium as International President. Formalizing of the Forums also was accomplished.

Dr. Baker's recreational interests included bird watching, photography, reading and collecting Native American jewelry and artifacts. She will be remembered for her strength, character, integrity and leadership.

Latin America Committee calls for donations

The Latin America Committee's (LAC) main focus is to raise money to defray the cost of attendance to Regional and International DKG conferences for our Latin American sisters. In the past the LAC has sold scarves and purses to raise money. This year all Omicron members are asked to donate items Latin American in origin that are in excellent or very good condition. These can be brought to the convention. Examples include ruanas, ponchos, scarves, purses, jewelry, textiles, paintings, and ceramics that a fellow member may want to purchase. LAC has also received items from our Latin American sisters to sell. Direct any question about a donation to Sherry Alimi at 928-830-2718 or by email s.alimi@sbcglobal.net.

The way we were...

1941 (75 years ago) – Eta Chapter was formed with twelve pledges from Yavapai County.

1966 (50 years ago) – The Society specifically required the wearing of hats to the Birthday Luncheon and the Memorial Service.

1991 (25 years ago) – Connie Myren was elected Omicron State President and the World Fellowship quilt was made by Arizona members.

Everyone is a leader

“Everyone is a Leader” is the theme the state Leadership Development Committee has selected for the 2016 Leadership Training Seminar for new chapter officers, which will be held April 15, the first day of the spring convention, at the Four Points Sheraton North in Phoenix.

The committee has been crafting numerous innovative ideas in collaboration with the Educational Excellence, Membership and Expansion committees in order to assure every new chapter officer a stimulating and inspiring training experience. Even those who are repeating a chapter office are sure to be energized by many of the fresh topics that will be presented, which will include the key responsibilities of prepared chapter leaders.

The current chapter Executive Boards and members are urged to make a strong effort to assist their new officers with finances for the training as well as the convention. Several chapters are conducting fundraisers to provide payment for registration, meal and travel expenses. Each training attendee will receive a certificate of participation for professional credit.

Each attendee needs to register for the training on the State Convention Registration form, by checking (yes) by “officer training” and (yes) by the training luncheon. The keynote speaker for the luncheon will be Diana Hutchinson (Beta), an experienced instructor of many aspects of leadership at ASU and Scottsdale Community College. Past International President Dr. Beverly Helms, who will be the convention international representative, will also lend her expertise to the seminar. A list of all new chapter officers needs to be sent to President Joye Sterrett no later than February 20, 2016.

The New Chapter Officer Training schedule:

Presidents: 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., including luncheon 12:00 to 1:00 p.m.

First and Second Vice Presidents: Luncheon (12:00 to 1:00 p.m.), followed by training sessions until 3:00 p.m.

Recording and Corresponding Secretaries and Treasurers: Luncheon: (12:00 to 1:00 p.m.), followed by training workshop 1:00 to 2:00 p.m.

The power of one

Diana Hutchinson,
Beta

Diana Hutchinson (Beta) will deliver the luncheon address at the upcoming Leadership Training Seminar for newly elected chapter officers. Her topic will be a “The Leader in Each of Us: The Power of One in Relationship with Others.” She will emphasize that we all must reach within ourselves and believe in our own ability as leaders - our power of one - as we connect with others and form positive relationships. Diana will share key points from her vast professional and personal experiences. The audience will be asked to focus on trust, which is at the heart of successful relationships. As expressed by the speaker, “It is the willingness and generosity to show up and share our insights that will make us aware of what is unique in us and allow us to evolve and grow as leaders.”

Diana holds Masters of Arts in Organizational and Interpersonal Communication. She has been a professor at Scottsdale Community College and an instructor at Arizona

State University, where she has taught courses in leadership, dynamics, communication, and conflict resolution.

She is Beta Chapter Recording Secretary and believes that her membership in DKG has been one of the most rewarding experiences in her journey of leadership. She remarks that the growth of relationships from professional colleagues and the lasting friendships have made all the difference in her personal development as a leader and educator.

Life experience activities – Pre-convention tours

The Life Experience Committee has selected a guided tour of the Wrigley Mansion for April 14, 2016. The mansion is located at 2501 E. Telawa Trail adjacent to the Biltmore Hotel. The one-hour tour starts at 4 pm. The mansion has 24 rooms, 12 bathrooms and 11 unique fireplaces. On the tour you will see some of the living, dining and bedroom areas and hear about the mansion's history as well as information about the Wrigley family. There are beautiful 360-degree views of the Valley from the mansion.

After the tour, the committee recommends the special happy hour where you can dine inside or outside. Either spot has great views of the city. Select beverages and appetizers on the menu are half priced until 6 pm. The appetizers can definitely be a meal!

William Wrigley Jr. known for the chewing gum and owning the Chicago Cubs, purchased the Biltmore hotel during the depression. On a hill nearby, he built a mansion for his wife for their 50th wedding anniversary. It was used as a winter retreat for many years. William Wrigley Jr. died in the house one year after it was built. However, his wife continued using the home until her death in 1958. Following her death, the Wrigley Mansion underwent several ownership changes. George Hormel, of the famous meat company, purchased the mansion in 1992 and renovated it. Currently it is a restaurant and lounge, as well as a banquet and wedding facility. However, many of the rooms have been preserved to look as the mansion did in the Wrigley glory days.

If you are interested in the tour, please fill out the registration form below. More detailed information about the tour logistics will be given to you. For additional information about the Wrigley Mansion, you may call (602) 955-4079 or visit the website at WrigleyMansion.com.

Membership is everybody's business

The Membership Committee, along with the Expansion Committee, is working to re-inspire and reaffirm chapter members, and rebuild chapter membership rolls. At the Fall Workshop we announced that our goal for the biennium will be 7 by '17. We are encouraging chapters through new initiations and reinstatements to meet or exceed this goal. International has provided a new recruitment plan available on the DKG website Membership Committee page. It includes complete instructions and all the resources your chapter needs to begin building membership. In addition, the focus for KARE visits this biennium will be not only membership development but also how to incorporate it into your strategic action plan. Having a specific goal of increasing membership, and strategies to meet that goal will be different for each chapter. The KARE team's goal will be to visit all chapters this biennium. Finally, and as important as recruitment, is retention of members. Retention, like recruitment, must be deliberate and planned for by each chapter. The International Membership Committee put it this way: "Celebrating members' accomplishments is an effective way to develop positive relationships among members. When we feel nurtured and valued, we are more likely to be involved in chapter activities." We need to share ideas of how your chapter shows appreciation of its members.

Kathi Houtcooper, Alpha Iota, Membership Chair

Cerreta Candy Company Factory at 5345 W. Glendale Avenue. Free guided tours are available at 10:00 and 1:00. During other times, you can take a self-guided video tour and learn about the process of making candy. (Samples are available.) Following the tour, the committee recommends driving to Catlin Court in downtown Glendale. Parking is available on some streets and in garages, such as the free Palmaire Parking Structure. Historic Catlin Court has white picket fences, large shade trees and bungalows converted to specialty shops. Stroll through the shops and eat in one of the many restaurants located in historic downtown Glendale. Detailed maps are available at the Glendale Visitor Center located at 5800 W. Glenn Drive, Suite 140. There is no required sign up for this optional activity.

"Pick Your Passion" — Move toward educational excellence

As we enter 2016, let us take time to reflect. How are we progressing with our goals toward Educational Excellence? Are your chapter programs stimulating your members to grow in their learning? Are the two state projects Collaborative Connections and Support of Early Career Educators (SEE) still an important focus? Has a member been assigned to record and report volunteer hours for Collaborative Connections? Are Early Career Educators being mentored in local schools? What efforts have been made to encourage members to accept leadership positions? Are plans being made to take part in the Legislative Day at the State Capitol on February 10th to demonstrate concern about educational issues, budget and state retirement? What efforts are being done to improve global awareness? Let these questions stimulate your passion for success.

Conversations on kindness

Attendees at the 2016 Omicron State Convention will want to sign up for the Birthday Luncheon and hear Jeannette Marè from Tucson. Marè founded “Ben’s Bells” after the death of her son. The everyday acts of kindness bestowed upon her during that time inspired her to form the organization to help build communities of kindness, recognize specific acts and empower people to be more aware of the need for kindness. This leads to the strengthening of communities and relationships. Attendees will hear how “Ben’s Bells” has stretched from Tucson to Newtown, how the organization is now involved with research studies on kindness, and how the effect of kindness benefits health and quality of life.

State scholarships available

Omicron State’s Scholarship Committee has several awards to offer member applicants this year. It is time to review the application forms and organize the information needed to apply for one of these. To qualify, an applicant must be a one or more year Society member and desire funding to help finance an advanced degree or special certification.

Also available are smaller amounts from the Jo Regenold Fund. These are for DKG educators who want to pursue a classroom project or attend a conference or seminar serving to enhance student learning abilities.

To help support the Jo Regenold Fund members may make monetary donations. Send a check to Treasurer Marge Threewit with a note that designates Jo Regenold Fund.

Please spread the word and encourage your DKG friends to apply for these financial awards. They are worthwhile and are one of the benefits of membership. Additional information may be found on Omicron’s website: <http://www.deltakappagamma.org/AZ/>

Need a Chapter Program Idea? Omega Learns About World Fellowship

Omega Chapter's September meeting gave members an opportunity to become more familiar with the goals and focus of the World Fellowship Committee. Members were asked what they knew about the committee and the fund, and were then given additional information and a brochure about the vision of the committee. Each member received a bag with a bookmark including facts about one of the most recent fund recipients, note paper and envelopes, address labels, and a pen. As members waited for the luncheon meal to be served, each member wrote a personal note of encouragement to the recipient listed on the bookmark. Members have been asked to correspond with their recipient two additional times during the year. The luncheon had an international theme: appetizers included veggie spring rolls and bruschetta; the main course consisted of pita bread with curried chicken or Mediterranean chickpea spread, cheeses, and sandwich veggies. A Greek salad with olives and feta cheese was served. Desserts included Belgium cream puffs, ginger cookies, strawberry cream cake, and baklava. Donations were collected and sent to the World Fellowship Fund from Omega Chapter. Many thanks go to Denise Martin who provided the electronic files containing bookmark recipient information and address labels.

Supporting Student Teachers: The Process

<http://www.gofundme.com/zs38h2a>

We know educational resources are becoming more scarce. We also know that funding your own education is becoming harder with the costs of tuition, books and supplies skyrocketing. But let's put that information on the back burner for a few minutes and talk about the mission of DKG which is to "promote professional and personal growth of women educators and excellence in education" and how chapters, even small ones, can develop fundraising and service projects to support our mission.

First you need membership engagement. Xi Chapter (Tucson) is fairly small and we have not had a significant fundraiser for service projects in a while. One of our recent initiates, Maryann Nuckolls, had an idea for fundraising and the energy and motivation to pursue it. She heard of crowdfunding and saw potential for raising more funds than our previous smaller projects. And, if we raised enough money, we could have a larger impact on our educational community. With this in mind, she did extensive research on crowdfunding and developed a white paper that she presented to our Chapter. She also shared it with headquarters, and they were very impressed!

The membership was energized as we discussed the crowdfunding options and what service project we would develop. The chapter agreed to the following:

- Develop a crowdfunding account.

- Use the funds to support University of Arizona student teachers by presenting them with $50 gift certificates.

- Establish the crowdfunding goal of $10,000 since there are about 200 student teachers for the 2015-2016 academic year.

Keep in mind that there are a number of websites that provide crowdfunding opportunities and they are not all alike. You need to consider numerous factors such as how fees are paid, do you need to reach the goal to access the funds, etc.

Nuckolls then contacted prospective partners. Jonathan and Marcia Katz, owners of Jonathan's Educational Resources in Tucson and Phoenix, agreed to partner with us as well as make a contribution.

The University of Arizona's Director of the Office of Field Experiences, Margaret R. Shafer welcomed our project to assist student teachers and has been very supportive.

Though $50 may not sound like a lot, it can make a dent in student teacher expenses. And, the $10,000 goal is lofty! How are we doing?

We are proud to say that the website for this project has been up since July 2015. One of the student teachers agreed to be the face of the project for the website and additional publicity. At Homecoming 2015, Maggie Shafer arranged a marvelous reception, including refreshments, at which time Xi members as well as Jonathan and Marcia Katz had an opportunity to meet the eleven Fall semester student teachers and hear them talk about the importance of their experience and

Marana Teachers Receive Awards

Alpha Chapter awarded three Marana Unified School District teachers $200 each to buy classroom supplies. All three women educators are in their first three years of full time employment by the district: Darci Brown, first grade teacher at Estes Elementary; Andrea Sera, fourth grade teacher at Quail Run Elementary; and Kim Tinghitella, kindergarten teacher at Thornydale Elementary. Books for classroom libraries and math manipulatives are some of the items to be purchased.

The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International promotes professional and personal growth of women educators and excellence in education. The grants awarded by the Alpha Chapter help with the support and retention of early career educators in the Marana District.

plans for the future. Then came their surprise as we awarded them each a $50 gift certificates for Jonathan's Educational Resources. So we are on our way!

The down side is that we are far from our goal of $10,000. Please join us in showing your support and Delta Kappa Gamma's support, for the next generation of teachers and their students. Take 10 minutes to contribute . . . no amount is too small. Please go to the following website: <http://gofundme.com/zs38h2a>

Using a Quilt to Teach the Underground Railroad

I was most impressed with Denise Crockett's (Kappa) presentation at the Fall Workshop about the use of quilts to communicate information about the Underground Railroad and direct slaves to freedom. Crockett teaches art at Safford Middle School in Safford, AZ. She displayed her handmade quilt, which had sixteen different blocks – 4 across the quilt and 4 down. Each block had a different meaning and was a code to direct a slave's journey. For example, the Log Cabin block was used to signal a "safe house" for runaway slaves. Each block had a different name, except the last one, which was a summary of the 15. The quilts would be hung one at a time on a fence or cabin door, left to "air out" while communicating a specific action or step for the runaway slave to take next.

Following is an explanation of the code. The name of the block on the quilt is underlined in the narrative. The Monkey Wrench turns the Wagon Wheel toward Canada. With help from Jesus, the Carpenter, follow the Bears' Trail through the woods. Fill your Baskets with enough food and supplies to get you to the Crossroads. Once you get to the Crossroads, dig a Log Cabin in the ground. Shoofly told us to dress up in cotton and satin Bow Ties. Follow the Flying Geese & Birds in the Air, stay on the Drunkard's Path. Take the Sailboat across the Great Lakes to the North Star above Canada.

Denise Crockett, Kappa

Safe houses along the way were known as "stations," those who guided the escapees were called "conductors" and the runaways themselves were called "passengers." Harriet Tubman was one of the best-known conductors on the Underground Railroad. After her escape from slavery, she returned to the South 19 times to bring over 300 fugitives to freedom and never lost a single passenger.

This information would make an interesting history lesson. Crockett included the titles of many children's books on this subject. This is a short list of the books, which were displayed: The Last Safe House, The Secret to Freedom, Stitchin & Pullin (also as a video) and Oma's Quilt.

Navajo Code Talkers

Judy Weber, Alpha Beta, spoke about the Navajo Code Talkers of World War II at our fall workshop at Metro Tech High School on Saturday, October 24, 2015.

Judy Weber, Alpha Beta, discusses Navajo Code Talkers

Weber's presentation was very interesting and full of information. She had prepared a timeline beginning with 1940—when the Navajo Nation passed a resolution that Navajo men would defend America.

There were Navajos already serving in the Marines, but this was a different mission—to be able to send messages that the Japanese could not translate. The men had to be able to speak English and Navajo, be aged 18 to 30 years old, and be small of stature. The timeline continued through 2014 when the last of the original 29 Code Talkers passed away.

The Code Talkers had to develop their own alphabet. They also used the words, "Arizona" or "New Mexico" before starting their transmissions. The Japanese tried to decode the messages but could not. Japanese intelligence also tried to disrupt the Navajo transmissions.

When WWII ended in 1946, the Code Talkers were quiet about their service. They went home and resumed their lives. In 1969, the Unbreakable Code was declassified, and the Navajo Code Talkers (20 were still alive) received special recognition at the Annual Reunion of the 4th Marine Division.

Judy Weber's presentation was well worth attending and presented a slice of American History that some of us did not know about.

EXPECT MORE ARIZONA

Dr. Joye Sterrett, Omega welcomes Pearl Chang Esau

Eighteen thousand students drop out of Arizona schools every year. Pearl Chang Esau spoke about this problem at the Omicron State Fall Workshop. In 2009, she wanted to change this statistic and formed a non-profit organization titled Expect More Arizona. She began by recruiting parents, educators and corporate sponsors. She reminded attendees that knowledge is power because it is one thing no one can take from you. As educators we are preparing students for jobs that do not yet exist. The major issue is funding. Educational achievement will translate to money for the local, state and national economy. ExpectMoreArizona.org provides information and resources for students, parents and educators and also offers opportunities for volunteering.

U.S. Forum offers seminar

The purpose of the U.S. Forum is to inform members on pending legislation that furthers the Purposes of the Society. Forum members are dedicated to being an advocate for women, children, and education, maintaining affiliations with other like-minded organizations, and surveying members to determine their legislative priorities.

The U. S. Forum holds a National Legislative Seminar each March of even-numbered years for DKG members and their guests. The National Legislative Seminar (NLS) will occur at the Holiday Inn National Airport Crystal City in Arlington, VA, March 13-16, 2016. Based on the results of the NLS Planning Survey given at each 2015 regional conference, the NLS will place an emphasis on five topics:

- Bullying and Cyberbullying
- High Stakes Testing
- Human Trafficking
- Mental Health/Gun Violence
- Pay Equity/Fair Pay for Women

In addition, other topics of interest will be discussed, a tour entitled "Museums, Memorials, and Moving Moments in American History" will be available. "CALL YOURSELF COUNTRY" in Nashville

Start getting your western duds together and come join the Education Foundation for a fun-filled evening, July 7, 2016 during the International Convention in Nashville. This will be an evening on the banks of the Cumberland River in a three-level historic warehouse turned into a country music entertainment center. The murals are fabulous, along with so much more designed by a local artist. You will even find horses and sculptures of custom horses that "belly up to the bar" with you. There are bars, dance floor, pool tables, shuffle board and much to enjoy. The Wildhorse has been completely bought out so only DKG members will be in attendance.

The $169 ticket includes: *transportation to and from the Wildhorse with buses running every 20 minutes from the Opryland Hotel, *access to all three levels and activities, *entertainment – live Band, DJ, line dance instructor, dance floor, *dinner buffets including salads, many condiments, *Hickory pit smoked pork shoulder, * Wildhorse BBQ Spice rubbed beef brisket, *chow chow cole slaw and piccalilli relish, along with *14 ingredient BBQ baked beans as well as *red roasted potatoes, *butter yeast rolls and buttermilk biscuits and a *seasonal fruit cobbler, and a tax-deductible donation (US only) to the Foundation. A cash bar will be on each level.

Legislative Day at the Capitol

Thirteen DKG members from across the state attended Legislative Day at the Arizona Capitol on February 10, 2016. The busy morning was spent visiting with a variety of legislators from both political parties. Legislators shared their expertise on many education issues and were quite willing to answer all questions. The speakers, Eric Meyer, 2015, Friend of Education recipient, along with Representative Rios, Representative Ackerley, Representative Gabaldon, and Representative Brophy McGee, were advocates for education and spoke to the importance of supporting education. Time was also spent visiting with our own legislators, touring the museum and visiting the monuments. After lunch we headed to the gallery in the House and Senate, where we were recognized by a member of the legislature. It was a good day to be with fellow DKG members. We are ready to continue to advocate for good education policies in Arizona.
