Message from President Trudy Farnell

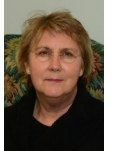

Well, Alpha Beta Ladies, it is hard to believe that in February we will not have been together face to face, for an entire year. In fact, "face-to-face" is not a phrase I would have anticipated using at all twelve months ago. My grandmother often quoted the adage, "You can't stop birds from flying over your head, but you don't have to let them nest in your hair." Of course, she was speaking of taking a circumstance and just not letting it go. I've thought much about that saying over the course of the last several months as this pandemic continues to take such a tremendous toll on the world, our country, our neighborhood, and our families. I am moved to try to stop the nesting. Relative to DKG, this is what's working...

I am rereading newsletters from past presidents and I am finding joy in their everyday experiences. For example, in January, 2011, President Jennifer Swartz sold her house. In January, 2016, President Lorine Davis revealed that she was still keeping a New Year's Resolution that she made in 1987. (If you want to know what it was, go to the Alpha Beta website and click CALENDAR. That's where the newsletters are). In that same issue, Mary Cooper Sauls was highlighted as a Living Legend. Last year, in her January 2020 letter, President Karen Parker reminded us of our December 2019 meeting featuring first year teacher and former DKG Scholarship recipient, Lindsay Jennings. At the end of her presentation recapping the first semester as...See Page 2.

Living Legends Award

Let's celebrate one of our Sisters, Sandra Edwards. She is a recipient of the 2020 Johnston County Schools Living Legend Award. Sandra is a native to Johnston County. She was a graduate of Smithfield-Selma High School, Peace College, East Carolina University, and Campbell University. She served the students of Johnston County Public Schools for more than 35 years and continues to be a tutor.

While teaching at South Smithfield Elementary, Sandra was known as the "End of Grade Princess." She brought positivity and encouragement to all of the third, fourth, and fifth grade students. She is an asset to our Chapter and she brings her positivity and encouragement with her where ever she goes. Congratulations Sandra!

Sandra Edwards

a teacher, Debbie Woodruff asked Lindsay, "Right now, what do we need to do for you?" Do you remember Lindsay's answer? So here we are in January, 2021, and COVID has been circling our heads for a year. And yet, I see few nests. We may not have bought or sold a house, but we have adjusted to Zoom, curbside pickup, and face masks hooked to our rear view mirrors. We began 2021 celebrating another Living Legend, Sandra Edwards. And, we are continuing in our service to Beginning Teachers with the renewed energy that came from that December 2019 meeting. Remembering the purpose of Delta Kappa Gamma, the relationships we have created in our chapter, and the reasons why we do what we do, goes a long way toward helping us stay nest free.

I am also focusing on this moment. We can never forget the magnitude of suffering and loss experienced by people we care about because of this horrible disease; but, we can resolve to be a part of the rebuilding. The predictions for the next few months are dire, but I resolve to rejoice in the number of people in my virtual Sunday School class who have had their first round of vaccines, including Lee and me. I resolve to look for ways that I can serve, especially as it relates to helping our children overcome the educational deficiencies caused by COVID-19. I resolve to see the present, warts and all, as a gift. When January 2022 rolls around, I want someone to ask me if I was as faithful to my resolutions in 2021 as Lorine was to hers in the 1980s.

Words from past presidents remind me of our common thread. We value the work done by Delta Kappa Gamma Internationally. We value DKG's governing documents and accept our responsibility as one part of a much larger whole. We value the importance of support and encouragement, not only to other educators, but to each other.

I suppose a major purpose of the newsletter is to make announcements and give reminders of coming activities. But, for now, celebrating where we are is not a bad idea. In her January 2014 letter, President Lynn Ragsdale shared a quote from Storm Jameson, "Happiness comes of the capacity to feel deeply, to enjoy simply, to think freely, to risk life, to be needed." We have certainly experienced these emotions this past year. I'm not sure I can call it happiness, but I resolve to move in that direction, to start the journey. Mary Daughtry has a special program planned for our February 23rd meeting, some much needed TLC. Let's hit the road together. ~ Trudy Farnell

Social & Emotional Learning Resources

Our 1st Vice President, Mary Daughtry, conducted an interview with Dr. Amanda Allen, Executive Director of Social and Emotional Learning (SEL) in Johnston County Schools (JCS.) The interview is part of our endeavor to learn more and to stay informed about the issues concerning JCS. We are hopeful that the interview with Dr. Allen sheds light on some of the plans that are being made relative to SEL.

Dr. Allen began her educational career as a school counselor in JCS and wanted to share how JCS school counselors are able to do their jobs during the Pandemic and how they are getting out to our students in order to meet their needs. Below is the list of questions Mary asked Dr. Allen. To hear how Dr. Allen responded to each question, please view the Zoom video sent to you by email.

Questions Answered Dr. Allen:

- Very few people really know what is involved in SEL, can you explain exactly what it is and what you do?
- Has the experience of the last ten months revealed any deficiencies and are there areas that will require special attention in public education as we move forward and we are able to come back together face-to-face?
- You mentioned that SEL can come under the umbrella of Student Services or Curriculum and Instruction. Can you help us understand the difference between the two.
- What role does SEL play in addressing the drop out issue or the drop out to prison pipeline and do either law enforcement or the Department of Social Services factor into your actions?
- What do you think are the most critical changes needed going forward?
- How are social workers or school counselors making contact with families that need support during this Pandemic?
- What is a burning question you have for us?

Dr. Allen didn't have a specific question for us, but wanted to make sure teachers were aware that the district SEL team is working to provide support at the school level. A SEL team or point of contact is identified and are provided information such as standards for the district, competencies and resources for both teachers and students. She reminded us that the school counselor is a great resources and can be the person to reach out to first.

Regarding the support that is in place for families struggling through the Pandemic, Dr. Allen shared that typically the homeroom teacher, school counselor or social workers are available to support them. When phone calls are not effective, "porch visits" are being conducted to make sure the family is ok.

We appreciated the time Dr. Allen spent sharing information. We know that it has been a very difficult time for students and teachers. It was great to hear the encouraging words from Dr. Allen and hear of the many resources that have been put in place to support JCS teachers and students. The good news is that she believes that students will have a new appreciation for teachers and the school.

Another Successful Virtual Meeting

I have great news to report. The Alpha Beta Chapter has continued to connect with our membership despite the Pandemic. Our President, Trudy Farnell, is becoming so much more comfortable with technology and our virtual meeting was a huge success.

We were able to conduct our business meeting, which has helped us more forward with our ongoing projects. We also were able to have a little fun. One of our Sisters, Sandra Edwards, had us laughing while trying to help us release some of our stress. She was our "stress release fairy."

We discussed the virtual meeting we had with our new superintendent and how successful and informative the information was that he shared. President Farnell's mission is to keep us as informed and as engaged as possible. She is working closely with our 1st Vice President, Mary Daughtry, who is planning the programs for our meetings. It has been a monumental task finding creative topics that will help our members to feel connected as well as informed. We have some exciting programs planned for our next two meetings. We had hope to meet face-to-face in February, but have decided another virtual meeting is safer.

What's Next for Ann?

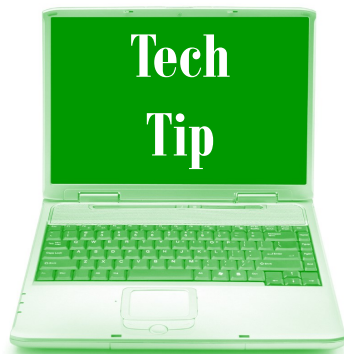

How do you end your 30 year teaching career? You end it with a smile and no regrets, of course! Ann Brown graduated from North Carolina State University (NCSU) in 1991 as a member of the first class of Teaching Fellows. As you probably know, the Teaching Fellows Program recruits the best and brightest students in high school to go into the teaching profession. What an honor it must have been for Ann to be a part of a program that impacted public education in such a positive and powerful way. So glad legislators brought this program back.

She went on to teach four years at EB Frink Middle School in Lenoir County. The rest of her 30 years in education were spent in the Johnston County Public School (JCPS) System at Smithfield Middle, West Johnston High School, and Princeton High School. Although she did not retire because of Covid 19, teaching during a pandemic did make it easier to leave the profession. Ann shared that hybrid teaching is without a doubt one of the most difficult things she has done professionally. It is not for the weary, nor for this over 50 educator! She says she has seen many, many changes in education over 30 years, technology and its uses being one of the biggest. She believes teaching is a gift and a calling; "it's in my blood." She says she will always be a teacher.

Tech Tip

Google Educator

Jamboard

Don't you just love it when teachers share resources with each other? One of my favorite teachers shared on Facebook another resource from Google entitled, Jamboard. It is powered by Google Cloud. Your student can use a tablet such as a Chromebook or access it from a Web browser. Students will have access a suite of rich editing tools. These tools will have students collaborating with other students and/or their teachers. Some of the benefits of using this Web tool are listed below. Also, there are several YouTube videos linked below with instructions on how to use Jamboard. If you like this Web tool, make sure you try it out in your classroom. Virtual learning poses many challenges and resources like Jamboard can make learning more engaging and even fun for students.

- ☑ Simple as a whiteboard, but smarter - Jamboard is just like a whiteboard. You can quickly pull in images from a Google search, but don't remember to discuss copyright first. Students can save their work to the cloud automatically. There is a easy-to-read handwriting and shape recognition tool. Students can draw with a stylus and erase with their finger.
- ☑ Share ideas in brainstorming or lectures - Jamboard makes learning visible and accessible to all collaborators. It's easy to present your jamboard in real time through a virtual meeting tool. This allows students to easily share or make real-world connections.
- ☑ Students can jam from anywhere - You can engage your students in several ways to include virtually learning or, face-to-face. Students will be more active in the learning process using the Jamboard app because it will make it easy for them to join in on the creativity from their phone or Chromebook.

2021 NC DKG Virtual Convention

The 2021 NC DKG Convention will be a virtual event to ensure the well-being of its members. Even though the convention will be virtual, there will be as much of a face-to-face atmosphere as possible. NC DKG President Dr. Teresa H. Cowan has announced that the 2021 convention will build on the success and learning experience of the Fall Executive Board virtual event. That event was open to all members and included workshops, presentations, a business session, and recorded and live vignettes.

There will be an expanded offering of workshops that will allow more members to participate. The theme for the convention will be "Celebrating NC DKG: Past, Present, and Future." If you are interesting in presenting, complete a workshop presentation application via a Google form. Registration for the convention begins on Friday evening, April 23, 2021. More information will be shared soon.

Saturday will kick off at 9:00 a.m. with the Executive Board Meeting. All registered members are invited to participate, but voting will be limited to Executive Board members. Workshops, live and pre-recorded, will be in the afternoon, and the evening session will celebrate the accomplishments of chapters and members, featuring DKG Membership Director Trish Woodley. I hope many of our Sisters will be in attendance.

DKG Headquarters Up for Sale

International President Becky Sadowski recently shared an update on the progress related to the sale of DKG's headquarters building. In a written statement, she said, "Some of you may remember that the decision to move forward with this step was announced in 2019....there are many phases included in this process. We believe transparency is very important, and we also want to make every effort to ensure that our members are not given misinformation."

Most importantly she shared, "We want you to be informed and have access to accurate information throughout this process." She encouraged us to have President Trudy Farnell to contact her with questions. Likewise, our state chapter members are encouraged to contact NC DKG President Dr. Teresa H. Cowan with questions or if you would like to read the entire letter for more details about the process.

More NC DKG Grants

The NC DKG Educational Foundation has great

news to share. For the first time, the Foundation is offering a Spring cycle of grants! This new round is in addition to the grant opportunities due each year in September.

The deadline for these new grants is January 31, 2021. The grants to be awarded include:

- Continuing Education,
- Literacy/Learning Project,
- Groves-Little Early Career Educator,
- McCall Gifted Education or Fine Arts, Margaret Church Endowment, and
- Richards Endowment.

For more details and the applications go to: <https://www.ncdkgef.org/grants.html>. The Foundation is a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt organization. You can make donations at <https://www.ncdkgef.org/donation-page.html>.

Professional Awards Survey

NC DKG wants to celebrate the accomplishments of its Sisters. Every NC DKG member is asked to share her professional achievements through the Professional Awards Survey.

This is a way for the Awards Committee to document and recognize members for their professional and educational achievements, such as Teacher or Principal of the Year, National Board Certification, or longevity of 50/+ years.

Members are asked to focus on awards received and not committees or boards served on or community or church awards received. The committee's goal is for each member to complete the survey by March 1, 2021. To access the survey form, go to <https://bit.ly/NCDKGPAA>.

Please take a few minutes to complete the survey so we can make sure our accomplishments are acknowledged. It is not very often that we get to pat ourselves on the back. Let's do it NOW!

Message From President Cowan

In President Teresa Cowan's message, she shares that as she began to reflect on her DKG story, it sparked a sense of gratitude. She quotes Amy Collette who says, "Gratitude is a powerful catalyst for happiness. It's the spark that lights a fire of joy in your soul." She also quotes Melody Beattie who says, "Gratitude makes sense of our past, brings peace for today, and creates a vision for tomorrow." These quotes relay a very profound message.

President Cowan found herself reflecting upon her own DKG Story and what DKG meant to her after making a chapter visit request. She shared as she prepared for the presentation, she found herself overwhelmed with a sense of gratitude. She believed it was a simple request, one would say, especially for a self proclaimed DKG enthusiast as herself, but she found thankfulness was woven throughout her DKG story! She wants to share her sense of gratitude for all levels of DKG. She shares that she is:

Dr. Teresa H.
Cowan NC DKG
President

- ☑️ grateful for the Chapters of NC DKG Alpha Phi who invited her to become a member in 2005 and the Alpha Phi member who saw something that she did not always see in herself. She believes chapters across NC DKG offer that sense of value every day to area educators.
- ☑️ grateful that NC educators have local chapters that strive to equip educators with what they need to flourish personally and professionally.
- ☑️ grateful for the opportunity to have served as a State Organization of NC DKG Committee member, committee chair, state officer, and Foundation Board member. She shares these are simple words on her resume, but these words cannot articulate how state-level service opportunities lead to peace and happiness; both are emotions grounded in service to the members of NC DKG.
- ☑️ grateful for the opportunity to serve and proudly do so.
- ☑️ grateful for being a member of the DKG Society International which is an international community of educators. She believes this collective force continually impacts educational, political, and social norms. As individuals, she knows we could never achieve what we as a Society have been able to do. This International Society provides her, as a member, a vision of optimism for the future. For that, she is eternally thankful.

President Cowan says the quotes by Collette and Beattie capture the essence of her DKG story. As we move into 2021, she wants to encourage us to articulate our DKG story. She also wants us to be someone's "catalyst." and "spark" them to find gratitude that promotes happiness and joy as they value their past, present, and future.

To read more of Dr. Cowan's message, go to NC DKG Website. Next, click on the News tab. Under Publications, select President's Page.

Feel free to contact Dr. Cowen. She would love to hear from you.

DKG International President

In her DKG News message, International President, Becky Sadowski shared that board members were going to have a discussion about effective board governance. To enlighten the discussion, the 2020-2022 Administrative Board members were asked to read the book, "The Will to Govern Well." In the book it describes the roles of knowledge, trust, and nimbleness in governance.

President Sadowski believes we are familiar with the terms "knowledge" and "trust" as they are used in describing the culture of associations. In reference to the word "nimble," the book says it often brings to mind other words like "quick" or "agile." However, in the world of associations, the book refers to nimble as an organization's ability to recognize opportunities and act on them in a timely and efficient way. President Sadowski shares an example of this can be seen in a board meeting where members discovered an opportunity to demonstrate nimbleness in decision making while discussing a dilemma facing many state organizations. Many state organizations had to cancel their state conventions scheduled during the spring and summer of 2020 due to the Pandemic. The state organizations were unable to conduct business because their bylaws did not include provisions for electronic voting.

Board members had lengthy discussion and careful consideration before passing a motion providing for a pilot project to allow them to conduct their business electronically and move forward. The effectiveness of the pilot project will be evaluated at the end of the biennium. President Sadowski believes another characteristic of successful organizations is the use of foresight in planning for the future. DKG has long recognized the need to anticipate change by looking ahead and developing a plan to guide the organization. President Sadowski shares the 2015-2025 Society Strategic Plan serves that purpose and continues to evolve during each biennium as administrative board members review the plan at each board meeting. The administrative board, she believes is committed to serving Society members. Board members are optimistic that providing DKG members fuller information about the work of the organization will result in engaged members pursuing their passions and stepping up to leadership wherever they are.

President Sadowski shares that The Strategic Plan is the road map for DKG and it includes four broad goals designed to strengthen the Society by improving the DKG experience for members: Support Members, Provide Global Opportunities, Develop Leaders, and Build Resources.

To access the DKG Strategic Plan, go to the DKG Website. Next click on Governing Docs - Strategic Plan.
